Sticking to a Strategy When You Solve Statistics Problems. Solving statistics problems is always about having a strategy. You can't just read a problem over and over and expect to come up with an answer — all you'll get is anxiety! Although not all strategies work for everyone, here's a three-step strategy that has proven its worth: Label everything the problem gives you.

We will also learn how to solve word problems involving mean. The mean of a set of observations is the average. It is obtained by dividing the sum of data by the number of observations. The formula is: Example: Find the mean of the following set of integers. 8, 11, -6, 22, -3 . Solution: Example: The set of scores 12, 5, 7, -8, x, 10 has a mean of 5.
